

Course Code: HUM2020 - AW61

Course Name: Encountering the Humanities

Credit Hours: 3.0

Semester: Summer A 2018

Mode: Online

Syllabus Table of Contents

1. Instructor Information
2. Course Description
3. Course Objectives
4. Required Text
5. General Expectations in a Fully Online Course
6. Description of Assignments and Tests
7. Grading Scheme and Description
8. Instructor Policies

- E-mail Correspondence
- Missed Assignments and Tests Policy
- Virtual Open Door Policy
- Maintaining a Respectful Environment
- No Extra Credit Policy

9. University Policies

- Academic Honesty
 - Accessibility Statement
 - Diversity Statement
 - UCF Cares
 - Copyright
 - Third-Party Software and FERPA
-

1. Instructor Information

Instructor: Dr. Nick Shrubsole

Virtual Office Hours: Available By Appointment via Skype or Conferences (Webcourses)

E-mail: Nicholas.Shrubsole@ucf.edu (Preferred method of contact)

Biography

Hello everyone! My name is Nick Shrubsole and I am your instructor for this course. Professionally, I hold a Ph.D. in Religious Studies from the University of Waterloo (2013), which is located just outside of Toronto, Ontario, Canada. Yes, I am a Canadian living in Florida. How novel, right? I moved to Orlando in 2015 after teaching for a few years back in Canada. I have extensive teaching experience in a broad range of Religious Studies courses, including World Religions and Politics, Religion, and the Law, Religion and Popular Culture, Evil, and a number of others. Since coming to Florida, I have been teaching extensively in the Humanities. I have taught this course several times in the face-to-face modality. I have also taught Humanistic Tradition I, another GEP course, and a couple of senior Humanities seminars. My specific research focuses on Indigenous Peoples' religious freedom claims. This is why there is a healthy portion of the course dedicated to the subject of colonialism.

On a more personal note, I like to let my students know that I am a disabled person. I have had a visual impairment since I was quite young. In my face-to-face classes, this usually means that I need to tell students that they need to be a bit more assertive when they need a question answered, but that won't be the case here. Even though you could go this whole course without ever knowing I have a visual impairment, I think it's important to let you know when diverse experiences are leading the class. I also hope that my disclosure can make others with disabilities feel comfortable in this class and beyond. Every disability is unique, so it is important to share our stories and let people know that we are here.

Aside from my professional credentials and disclosure, I do have a life outside of work, although it is difficult at times in this kind of employment. I played a lot of music back in Canada, so I am actively trying to continue that here in Florida. I enjoy watching live music and try to get to at least one show every couple of weeks. I enjoy going out with the wonderful friends I have met in this city as much as I enjoy taking a break and watching any number of quality shows.

I look forward to learning more about you in the opening discussion! Please don't ever hesitate to contact me if you have any questions.

2. Course Description

This course is an introduction to humanities ideas, research methods, and approaches to scholarship and creative work. Students will be introduced to diverse tools and approaches for critically examining intellectual, cultural, and creative human expression.

More specifically, this course asks students to investigate several theoretical approaches to the Humanities that may include postcolonial theory, feminist theory, queer theory, and critical race theory. We will use these theoretical frameworks to understand the significance of some creative works and to offer critiques of others. This course is unapologetically an exploration of contemporary Humanities and the work of marginalized, ignored, and excluded communities.

The guiding questions for this course are as follows:

- How do cultural productions communicate complex identity and experience?
 - How do we use theory to understand the depth and significance of cultural productions?
 - How can we use theory to critique and deconstruct cultural productions?
-

2. Course Objectives

By the end of this course, students should be able to:

- Understand the importance of voice and agency
 - Develop the necessary skills to critically view and respond to cultural productions
 - Demonstrate the ability to communicate critical thinking through written assignments
 - Appreciate subcultural and minority productions
 - Critically discuss the humanities
 - Demonstrate a better understanding of the humanities
-

4. Required Texts

There is only one text that you are required to purchase for this course. The majority of material is available through the course website.

Toni Morrison. Paradise. Vintage Reprint Edition, 2014. (ISBN: 9780804169882) Please note that any edition of the book will suffice. You can click on the image to the left to go directly to the Amazon website for the novel.

You will also need to watch Disney's Pocahontas by the end of the course. This feature is available on Netflix. You are able to try a seven day free trial of Hulu during which you could watch the film. Otherwise, you will be responsible for soliciting a copy yourself.

Please note a self-regulating and volunteer book club space has been setup for Paradise. If you would like to have a space to speak with other students about the book on a scheduled time-line, please join the Book Club group. You can join the book club discussion group by clicking on "People" then click the "Groups" tab. Next to the Group marked "Voluntary Book Club Discussion," click "Join." You will then see that Group in the Groups tab just below the courses tab on the left-hand side of your screen.

5. General Expectations in a Fully Online Course

This is a fully online course. For this reason, students must develop their time management skills effectively. As an online course, you are still expected to dedicate the same amount of time you would in a face-to-face course. The major difference is that there is no scheduled class time. The work that you conduct outside of the classroom remains relatively the same, but the experience of the classroom is a little different. In a classroom, you may attend class at a scheduled time at which point you can listen to a lecture and engage with your fellow classmates in meaningful discussion. When you leave the class, you may independently set up study groups, but many students may just take that time to read their text, complete assignments, and make study guides for in-class tests. In an online course, you will continue to engage with your classmates, listen to some lectures, and participate in small group assignments. The difference is that this is completed online at a time that is more conducive for your schedule. Here are some helpful hints at the beginning of this course to make sure you stay on schedule:

- Write down the critical dates for all assignments in the course. You may choose to just use the calendar function in Webcourses, but I would encourage you to use a calendar that you encounter regularly (i.e., on your phone, laptop, tablet, or, wall calendar).
- Note the opening and closing dates for assignments. In an online course, you have windows to complete assignments rather than a specific due date. Note both the opening and closing dates of all assignments.
- Ensure that you login at least four times a week. Even if there is nothing scheduled that week, it is crucial that you stay engaged with the course.

6. Description of Assignments and Tests

Assignment	Weight	Description
Unit Quizzes	55%	Every individual unit item consists of a reading, lecture

	(11 quizzes x 5% each)	content and a quiz. There is one quiz in the introductory module, three quizzes in the Postcolonialism module, three quizzes in the Feminism module, and four quizzes in the Critical Race Theory module. There is a total of 11 quizzes. Three of these quizzes contain short answer questions, which are provided in advance on the content page for the accompanying quiz. Ensure that you prepare your responses to these questions in advance. All quizzes for a module are due by the Sunday of the week they are assigned. Late quizzes will be accepted for up to 3 days following the end of the week at a penalty of 10% per day. Note: due dates are spread throughout the week but given the condensed nature of a summer course, this system should allow for some flexibility while not allowing anyone to get too far behind.
Module Essays/Creative Projects	45% (You must complete two of the three assignments. If you complete only two of these module assignments, each will be worth 22.5% of your overall grade. If you complete all three assignments, each will be worth 15% of your overall grade.)	At the conclusion of the Postcolonial and Critical Race Theory modules, you have the option to write an essay using the theory from the module and the cultural artifact provided (i.e., Disney's Pocahontas and Toni Morrison's Paradise). Essays must be submitted by their due date. No late essays will be accepted. (Why? For the final essay, the turn around to submit final grades is too short to allow for any late submissions.)

		At the end of the Feminism module, students are responsible for creating a meme in the spirit of the Guerrilla Girls. Students will have to explain how they have used a tactic of the Guerrilla Girls in a write-up with reference to the assigned reading. Late assignments for this creative project will be accepted with the same penalties and time as listed for the quizzes.
--	--	--

7. Grading Scheme

Below you will find general descriptions of the grades offered in this course.

Grade	Percentage	Brief Description
A	94% – 100%	Reserved for excellence, far exceeds average understanding as evidenced in course work and goes significantly beyond basic understanding.
A-	90% – < 94%	Excellent, exceeds average understanding as evidenced in course work and goes well beyond basic understanding.
B+	87% – < 90%	Very good. Far above average, fully meets or exceeds average understanding as evidenced in course work, fully understands the basics and goes beyond that level.
B	83% – < 87%	Very good. Above average, fully meets average understanding as evidenced in course work, fully understands the basics and can engage material somewhat beyond that level.
B-	80% – < 83%	Very good. Just above average, fully meets expectations for basic understanding as evidenced in coursework and fully understands the basics and can engage material at that level.
C+	77% – < 80%	Slightly above average, fully meets expectations for basic understanding as evidenced in coursework and understands the basics.
C	73% – < 77%	Average, meets minimum expectations and satisfies course requirements.
C-	70% – < 73%	Slightly below average, meets bare minimum expectations and satisfies course requirements.

D+	67% – < 70%	Lacking in quality. Below average, meets most minimum expectations and satisfies all or most course requirements.
D	63% – < 67%	Lacking in quality. Below average, meets many minimum expectations and satisfies all or most course requirements.
D-	60% – < 63%	Greatly lacking in quality. Far below average, but meets most minimum expectations and satisfies most course requirements with minimal understanding evidenced in course work.
F	0% – < 60%	Fails to meet minimum expectations in understanding and course work as evidenced by performance and submission of graded elements.

8. Instructor Policies

E-mail correspondence

1. Please use the inbox located to the left of this page to correspond with your instructor.
2. Think of an e-mail as a formal letter when corresponding with instructors (as opposed to a text message). Begin with a salutation (a greeting) and conclude with your name. Be respectful and considerate in your language and re-read your e-mail before sending.
3. Review the course syllabus to ensure that your question is not answered there.
4. For technical support, contact Online@UCF by clicking the following link: UCF Online Support.

Missed Assignments and Tests Policy

Late policies are listed in the assignment descriptions above. In short, module essays must be completed by the due date. Quizzes and the creative project must be completed by the Sunday of the week they are assigned. Late quizzes and creative projects will be accepted for up to three days after the end of the week with a penalty of 10% per day. For example, a quiz that is submitted on a Tuesday that was assigned in the week prior (so it was due the previous Sunday) would receive a late penalty of 20%. It is strongly recommended that you try to follow the due dates that are spread out across the week.

Virtual Open Door Policy

Your instructor is here to help! I encourage you to contact me at any time to discuss your questions and concerns about the course. .

Maintaining a Respectful Environment

This course will be guided by an ethic of mutual respect and responsibility. At times, the topics may become controversial and online debate rather tense. While disagreement is part of a healthy university environment, please engage your colleagues (including the instructor) with respect and in such a way to promote a response. Agreement should not be the task in online discussions, but rather education and, where possible, consensus.

No Extra Credit Policy

Please do not ask for extra credit opportunities during this course. The course is out of 100% and all students will engage in the same assignments. Any extra credit assignments would have to be offered to all students and would, in turn, increase the percentage of this course above 100%.

9. University Policies and Important Information

Academic Honesty

Plagiarism and cheating of any kind on an examination, quiz, or assignment will result at least in an "F" for that assignment (and may, depending on the severity of the case, lead to an "F" for the entire course) and may be subject to appropriate referral to the Office of Student Conduct for further action. See the UCF Golden Rule for further information. I will assume for this course that you will adhere to the academic creed of this University and will maintain the highest standards of academic integrity. In other words, don't cheat by giving answers to others or taking them from anyone else. I will also adhere to the highest standards of academic integrity, so please do not ask me to change (or expect me to change) your grade illegitimately or to bend or break rules for one person that will not apply to everyone.

Accessibility Statement

The University of Central Florida is committed to providing reasonable accommodations for all persons with disabilities. This syllabus is available in alternate formats upon request. Students with disabilities who need accommodations in this course must contact the professor at the beginning of the semester to discuss needed accommodations. No accommodations will be provided until the student has met with the professor to request accommodations. Students who need accommodations must connect with Student Accessibility Services, Ferrell Commons, 7F, Room 185, phone (407) 823-2371, TTY/TDD only phone (407) 823-2116, before requesting accommodations from the professor.

Diversity Statement

The University of Central Florida recognizes that our individual differences can deepen our understanding of one another and the world around us, rather than divide us. In this class, people of all ethnicities, genders and gender identities, religions, ages, sexual orientations, disabilities, socioeconomic backgrounds, regions, and nationalities are strongly encouraged to share their rich array of perspectives and experiences. If you feel your differences may in some way isolate you from UCF's community or if you have a need of any specific accommodations, please speak with the instructor early in the semester about your concerns and what we can do together to help you become an active and engaged member of our class and community.

UCF Cares

During your UCF career, you may experience challenges including struggles with academics, finances, or your personal well-being. UCF has a multitude of resources available to all students. Please visit UCFCares.com \(Links to an external site.\) if you are seeking resources and support, or if you are worried about a friend or classmate. Free services and information are included for a variety of student concerns, including but not limited to alcohol use, bias incidents, mental health concerns, and financial challenges. You can also e-mail ucfcares@ucf.edu with questions or for additional assistance. You can reach a UCF Cares staff member between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. by calling 407-823-5607. If you are in immediate distress, please call Counseling and Psychological Services to speak directly with a counselor 24/7 at 407-823-2811, or please call 911.

Copyright

This course may contain copyright protected materials such as audio or video clips, images, text materials, etc. These items are being used with regard to the Fair Use doctrine in order to enhance the learning environment. Please do not copy, duplicate, download or distribute these items. The use of these materials is strictly reserved for this online classroom environment and your use only. All copyright materials are credited to the copyright holder.

Third-Party Software and FERPA

During this course you might have the opportunity to use public online services and/or software applications sometimes called third-party software such as a blog or wiki. While some of these could be required assignments, you need not make any personally identifying information on a public site. Do not post or provide any private information about yourself or your classmates. Where appropriate you may use a pseudonym or nickname. Some written assignments posted publicly may require personal reflection/comments, but the assignments will not require you to disclose any personally identity-sensitive information. If you have any concerns about this, please contact your instructor.