Instructor: Dr. Nick Shrubsole

Virtual Office Hours: Available By Appointment via Skype or Conferences (Webcourses)

Biography

Hello everyone! My name is Nick Shrubsole and I am your instructor for this course. Professionally, I hold a Ph.D. in Religious Studies from the University of Waterloo (2013), which is located just outside of Toronto, Ontario, Canada. Yes, I am a Canadian living in Florida. How novel, right? I moved to Orlando in 2015 after teaching for a few years back in Canada. I have extensive teaching experience in a broad range of Religious Studies courses, including World Religions and Politics, Religion, and the Law, Religion and Popular Culture, Evil, and a number of others. Since coming to Florida, I have been teaching extensively in the Humanities. I have taught this course several times in the face-to-face modality. I have also taught Humanistic Tradition I, another GEP course, and a couple of senior Humanities seminars. My specific research focuses on Indigenous Peoples’ religious freedom claims. This is why there is a healthy portion of the course dedicated to the subject of colonialism.

On a more personal note, I like to let my students know that I am a disabled person. I have had a visual impairment since I was quite young. In my face-to-face classes, this usually means that I need to tell students that they need to be a bit more assertive when they need a question answered, but that won’t be the case here. Even though you could go this whole course without ever knowing I have a visual impairment, I think it’s important to let you know when diverse experiences are leading the class. I also hope that my disclosure can make others with disabilities feel comfortable in this class and beyond. Every disability is unique, so it is important to share our stories and let people know that we are here.

Aside from my professional credentials and disclosure, I do have a life outside of work, although it is difficult at times in this kind of employment. I played a lot of music back in Canada, so I am actively trying to continue that here in Florida. I enjoy watching live music and try to get to at least one show every couple of weeks. I enjoy going out with the wonderful friends I have met in this city as much as I enjoy taking a break and watching any number of quality shows.

I look forward to learning more about you in the opening discussion! Please don’t ever hesitate to contact me if you have any questions.
2. Course Description

This course is an introduction to humanities ideas, research methods, and approaches to scholarship and creative work. Students will be introduced to diverse tools and approaches for critically examining intellectual, cultural, and creative human expression.

More specifically, this course asks students to investigate several theoretical approaches to the Humanities that may include postcolonial theory, feminist theory, queer theory, and critical race theory. We will use these theoretical frameworks to understand the significance of some creative works and to offer critiques of others. This course is unapologetically an exploration of contemporary Humanities and the work of marginalized, ignored, and excluded communities.

Note: the Humanities program offers upper-level courses in Postcolonial Theory, Queer Theory, Feminist Theory, and Critical Race Theory.

2. Course Objectives

By the end of this course, students should be able to:

- Understand the importance of voice and agency
- Develop the necessary skills to critically view and respond to cultural productions
- Demonstrate the ability to communicate critical thinking through written assignments
- Appreciate subcultural and minority productions
- Critically discuss the humanities
- Demonstrate a better understanding of the humanities

4. Required Texts

There is only one text that you are required to purchase for this course. The majority of material is available through the course website.

You will also need to watch Disney's Pocahontas by the end of the course. This feature is available on Netflix. You are able to try a seven day free trial of Hulu during which you could watch the film. Otherwise, you will be responsible for soliciting a copy yourself.
Please note a self-regulating and volunteer book club space has been setup for Paradise. If you would like to have a space to speak with other students about the book on a scheduled time-line, please join the Book Club group. You can join the book club discussion group by clicking on "People" then click the "Groups" tab. Next to the Group marked "Voluntary Book Club Discussion," click "Join." You will then see that Group in the Groups tab just below the courses tab on the left-hand side of your screen.

5. General Expectations in a Fully Online Course

This is a fully online course. For this reason, students must develop their time management skills effectively. As an online course, you are still expected to dedicate the same amount of time you would in a face-to-face course. The major difference is that there is no scheduled class time. The work that you conduct outside of the classroom remains relatively the same, but the experience of the classroom is a little different. In a classroom, you may attend class at a scheduled time at which point you can listen to a lecture and engage with your fellow classmates in meaningful discussion. When you leave the class, you may independently set up study groups, but many students may just take that time to read their text, complete assignments, and make study guides for in-class tests. In an online course, you will continue to engage with your classmates, listen to some lectures, and participate in small group assignments. The difference is that this is completed online at a time that is more conducive for your schedule. Here are some helpful hints at the beginning of this course to make sure you stay on schedule:

- Write down the critical dates for all assignments in the course. You may choose to just use the calendar function in Webcourses, but I would encourage you to use a calendar that you encounter regularly (i.e., on your phone, laptop, tablet, or, wall calendar).
- Note the opening and closing dates for assignments. In an online course, you have windows to complete assignments rather than a specific due date. Note both the opening and closing dates of all assignments.
- Ensure that you login at least four times a week. Even if there is nothing scheduled that week, it is crucial that you stay engaged with the course.

For more specific details on expectations, lease review the course expectations: Course Expectations.
6. Description of Assignments and Tests

Each Module contains several assignments related to each item of content. The course concludes with three discussions related to the three theoretical modules covered in the course.

The film is available on Netflix. A free trial is available if you do not have an account. Otherwise, you are responsible for tracking down the film on your own. It is recommended that you return to your reading that introduced Postcolonialism and consider the arguments raised in the documentary Reel Injun before answering one of the following questions (Note: you must make specific reference to Pocahontas):

- How does Disney’s portrayal of Pocahontas ignore issues of power and domination in the colonial encounter?
- How is Indigenous culture presented? Is it singular, praised, condemned? How does the portrayal of that culture (if any) embody the legacy of cultural genocide and appropriation?
- What false messages about Indigenous Peoples and history are communicated in the film that need to be addressed?
- Afterward, consider how feminist or critical race theory may also be applied to this film

Note you may choose to explore any other line of questioning that you desire but it must relate to Pocahontas. It should also engage at least one of the theories presented in this course. In other words, feel free to respond to another question of your making but remember that it must adhere to the above listed parameters.

How will I be assessed?

Application of Knowledge: The discussion is meant to be a capstone to the module. You should seek to demonstrate that you understood the material.

Meaningful Contributions: Regular participation is important but meaningful participation is crucial. Do not simply agree with a classmate. Offer something substantial to the conversation.

Consistent Participation: Discussions only work if members are actively engaged in that discussion. You are expected to post early and often. Returning to the discussion once or twice a day will ensure that you meet this criteria.

Respect and Professionalism: Treat these posts with care. Make sure your grammar and spelling are satisfactory. You should also ensure that as you engage with your fellow classmates that you demonstrate respect for their positions.

By now, you have completed reading Toni Morrison's Paradise. As you know, the book addresses broader themes of race and gender through an exploration of the narratives of characters from Ruby and the nearby Convent. Your task in this discussion is to carry on the conversation started by Schur in the article that concluded the Critical Race Theory module. You may also want to briefly return to the introductory reading on Critical Race Theory.

With specific reference to Toni Morrison's Paradise, address one or more of the following questions:

- How does "whiteness" manifest in Toni Morrison's Paradise?
- How is racism internalized in the characters of Toni Morrison's Paradise?
- Consider how cultural racism, marginalization of racism, or abstract...
liberalism manifest in Toni Morrison’s Paradise?

Note you may choose to explore any other line of questioning that you desire but it must relate to CRT and Morrison's Paradise. In other words, feel free to respond to another question of your making but remember that it must adhere to the above listed parameters. Upon addressing CRT, you may also wish to address Feminist discourse in Morrison's novel, if you desire.

NOTE:

Missed Assignments and Tests Policy

One important lesson you will learn at university is time management. Tests and Assignments must be completed within a predesignated time span. Because this is a summer course, the late penalties are a little more lenient than they would be in a sixteen-week semester. All module assignments must be completed by the closing date of the content for the module though suggested dates are listed. It is strongly recommended that you follow those dates. The first module closes on Friday, but the remaining three modules contend ends on the Sunday after they open. Check the schedule and note these dates. Following the close of the module, outstanding assignments will receive a deduction of 10% per day for up to three days.

For example, you could conceivably complete all four content items from the Postcolonialism module on Sunday, July 8 without any penalty, even though "due dates" stretch from Monday, July 2 - Saturday, July 7. However, beginning Monday, July 9, any of the four assignments that have not yet been submitted will receive a late penalty. This is because the content for the Postcolonialism module ends on Sunday, July 8. The Postcolonialism discussion begins Monday, July 9. The best advice is to get tests and assignments in on time.

For discussions, you are expected to engage through the discussion period. Once a discussion window closes, that is it. No late discussion posts will be accepted. There are two discussions in this course that last for five days each. Mark them in your calendar and prepare to login every day.

The Agency Project must be submitted by the deadline. No late submissions will be accepted.

<tr>
<td>B+</td>
<td>87% – &lt; 90%</td>
<td>Very good. Far above average, fully meets or exceeds average understanding as evidenced in course work, fully understands the basics and goes beyond that level.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B</td>
<td>83% – &lt; 87%</td>
<td>Very good. Above average, fully meets average understanding as evidenced in course work, fully understands the basics and can engage material somewhat beyond that level.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B-</td>
<td>80% – &lt; 83%</td>
<td>Very good. Just above average, fully meets expectations for basic understanding as evidenced in coursework and fully understands the basics and can engage material at that level.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C+</td>
<td>77% – &lt; 80%</td>
<td>Slightly above average, fully meets expectations for basic understanding as evidenced in coursework and understands the basics.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C</td>
<td>73% – &lt; 77%</td>
<td>Average, meets minimum expectations and satisfies course requirements.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C-</td>
<td>70% – &lt; 73%</td>
<td>Slightly below average, meets bare minimum expectations and satisfies course requirements.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D+</td>
<td>67% – &lt; 70%</td>
<td>Lacking in quality. Below average, meets most minimum expectations and satisfies all or most course requirements.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
D | 63% – < 67% | Lacking in quality. Below average, meets many minimum expectations and satisfies all or most course requirements.

D- | 60% – < 63% | Greatly lacking in quality. Far below average, but meets most minimum expectations and satisfies most course requirements with minimal understanding evidenced in course work.

F | 0% – < 60% | Fails to meet minimum expectations in understanding and course work as evidenced by performance and submission of graded elements.

8. Instructor Policies

E-mail correspondence

1. Please use the inbox located to the left of this page to correspond with your instructor.
2. Think of an e-mail as a formal letter when corresponding with instructors (as opposed to a text message). Begin with a salutation (a greeting) and conclude with your name. Be respectful and considerate in your language and re-read your e-mail before sending.
3. Review the course syllabus to ensure that your question is not answered there.

Virtual Open Door Policy

Your instructor is here to help! I encourage you to contact me at any time to discuss your questions and concerns about the course.

Maintaining a Respectful Environment

This course will be guided by an ethic of mutual respect and responsibility. At times, the topics may become controversial and online debate rather tense. While disagreement is part of a healthy university environment, please engage your colleagues (including the instructor) with respect and in such a way to promote a response. Agreement should not be the task in online discussions, but rather education and, where possible, consensus.

No Extra Credit Policy

Please do not ask for extra credit opportunities during this course. The course is out of 100% and all students will engage in the same assignments. Any extra credit assignments would have to be offered to all students and would, in turn, increase the percentage of this course above 100%.

9. University Policies and Important Information

Academic Honesty

Plagiarism and cheating of any kind on an examination, quiz, or assignment will result at least in an “F” for that assignment (and may, depending on the severity of the case, lead to an "F" for the entire course) and may be subject to appropriate referral to the Office of Student Conduct for further action. See the UCF Golden Rule for further information. I will assume for this course that you will adhere to the academic creed of this University and will maintain the highest standards of academic integrity. In other words, don’t cheat by giving answers to others or taking them from anyone else. I will also adhere to the highest standards of academic integrity, so please do not ask me to change (or expect me to change) your grade illegitimately or to bend or break rules for one person that will not apply to everyone.

Disability Statement

The University of Central Florida is committed to providing reasonable accommodations for all persons with disabilities. This syllabus is available in alternate formats upon request. Students with disabilities who need accommodations in this course must contact the professor at the beginning of the semester to discuss needed accommodations. No accommodations will be provided until the student has met with the professor to request accommodations. Students who need accommodations must be registered with Student Disability Services, Ferrell Commons, 7F, Room 185, phone (407) 823-2371, TTY/TDD only phone (407) 823-2116, before requesting accommodations from the professor.

Diversity Statement

The University of Central Florida recognizes that our individual differences can deepen our understanding of one another and the world around us, rather than divide us. In this class, people of all ethnicities, genders and gender identities, religions, ages, sexual orientations, disabilities, socioeconomic backgrounds, regions, and nationalities are strongly encouraged to share their rich array of perspectives and experiences. If you feel your differences may in some way isolate you from UCF's community or if you have a need of any specific accommodations, please speak with the instructor early in the semester about your concerns and what we can do together to help you become an active and engaged member of our class and community.

UCF Cares

During your UCF career, you may experience challenges including struggles with academics, finances, or your personal well-being. UCF has a multitude of resources available to all students. Please visit UCFCares.com (Links to an external site.) if you are seeking resources and support, or if you are worried about a friend or classmate. Free services and information are included for a variety of student concerns, including but not limited to alcohol use, bias incidents, mental health concerns, and financial challenges. You can also e-mail ufcares@ucf.edu with questions or for additional assistance. You can reach a UCF Cares staff member between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. by calling 407-823-5607. If you are in immediate distress, please call Counseling and Psychological Services to speak directly with a counselor 24/7 at 407-823-2811, or please call 911.

A Note on Copyright

This course may contain copyright protected materials such as audio or video clips, images, text materials, etc. These items are being used with regard to the Fair Use doctrine in order to enhance the learning environment. Please do not copy, duplicate, download or distribute these items. The use of these materials is strictly reserved for this online classroom environment and your use only. Warning about Third-Party Software and FERPA

During this course you might have the opportunity to use public online services and/or software applications sometimes called third-party software such as a blog or wiki. While some of these could be required assignments, you need not make any personally identifying information on a public site. Do not post or provide any private information about yourself or your classmates. Where appropriate you may use a pseudonym or nickname. Some written assignments posted publicly may require personal reflection/comments, but the assignments will not require you to disclose any personally identity-sensitive information. If you have any concerns about this, please contact your instructor.
