Attendance Policy/Course Requirements

Your attendance for this course will be measured by the assignments and assessments that you submit online, as well as face-to-face attendance in class. In order to succeed in this course, it is necessary that you participate fully by completing assignments on time and contributing to all learning activities.

You should expect to spend 15-20 hours per week on Spanish coursework. This time includes online instruction, vocabulary review, grammar and vocabulary tutorials, practice activities, graded homework assignments, graded LiveChat activities, writing assignments, and graded quizzes.

Attendance is required at all class meetings. However, the instructor understands that on occasion, it may be necessary for students to be absent. Students are permitted two absences for any reason whatsoever. For each absence after the two permitted absences, 2% points will be deducted from the final grade, up to a maximum of 10% of the final grade.

Official documentation must be provided in order for any absences to be excused. Religious holidays, court attendance, military service, or death in the immediate family are considered excused absences by UCF. It is the student's responsibility to provide valid, written proof such as an official letter or note with a seal, stamp, or letterhead in a timely manner, Students are required to contact the instructor as soon as possible and turn in any documentation no later than the number of days of excused absences plus one.

Students are responsible for contacting another classmate regarding missed material in the event of an absence. You may do this through the El Café discussion board in Webcourses.

As of Fall 2014, all faculty are required to document students' academic activity at the beginning of each course. In order to document that you began this course, please complete the Syllabus Quiz (See below) by the end of the first week of classes or as soon as possible after adding the course, but no later than August 25th. Failure to do so may result in a delay in the disbursement of your financial aid.

Assignment Submission, Missed Assignments, Make-Up Policy

The submission location for assignments and assessments will vary for each type of assignment, and may be in class, in Webcourses, and/or in MySpanishLab, which you will access through your modules in Webcourses. Deadlines for assignments completed in Webcourses and MySpanishLab are based on Eastern Standard Time.

Generally, there are no permitted make-ups for missed assignments. MySpanishLab homework activities will incur a 10% penalty per day late automatically deducted, up to a maximum of 100% deduction.

Only on rare occasions and for extenuating circumstances (religious holidays, hospitalization, court attendance, military service, or death in immediate family) will your instructor accept late work. Valid, written documentation (an official letter or note with a seal, stamp, or letterhead) must be provided in order for missed assignments to be accepted. If the instructor allows any late assignment submissions, the student has the number of days he/she was excused for plus one to provide proper documentation as well as to make up any missed work.

Final Exams will not be administered early or accepted late under any circumstances.

Online Communication

Since Webcourses email is the most direct and frequent line of communication between you and the instructor outside of class, you are encouraged to be thoughtful and courteous in your communication as well as to be diligent about checking and responding to emails. Your instructor will make every effort to respond to your messages and help requests, at the latest, within 48 hours Monday through Friday, but most likely it will be sooner.

Assignment information will be posted in a number of places, so it is important to check all of the following on a daily basis: Webcourses Inbox, the Announcements section of Webcourses, the Modules section of Webcourses, the Calendar in Webcourses.

Final Grades

It is the student's responsibility to keep track of assignments and calculate grades throughout the semester based on the grades posted in Webcourses.

Please note that final grades will NOT be rounded up. That means, for example, a percentage grade earned between 89.01 and 89.99 will be reported as an overall letter grade of B.

MySpanishLab Online Activities

MySpanishLab is one of the two learning management systems you will use in this course. The activities assigned in MySpanishLab can be found in the modules for that chapter in Webcourses. The activities assigned represent extensive practice that will assist students to internalize the language. Homework will need to be completed by the dates that appear in Webcourses. Late homework is accepted with a 10% reduction for each day it is late. Submissions after 9 days from the due date will result in zeros. As with any website, you might experience technical issues. Make sure you report these issues to the MySpanishLab tech support. This information can be found in the Tech Support section of the Getting Started with MySpanishLab Module.

Classroom Participation

Regular and active participation in activities in the classroom is essential to learning Spanish. You will be evaluated on the quality and frequency of your participation in class.

Lesson Quizzes

You will complete four quizzes online in Webcourses after completion of each chapter. As with any other assessment you take in a face-to-face class, you are not allowed to have open book or notes while taking your quizzes, the same applies with the online quizzes. Additionally, Lesson Quizzes will need to be completed using Proctor Hub. Failure to record your submission using Proctor Hub will result in a 0 grade for the quiz. It is your responsibility to ensure that your camera is working prior to starting these assessments..

Writing Activities

You will complete 3 writing activities on a variety of topics pertinent to the course material. You will be graded on your ability to communicate meaning in written Spanish, on your use of vocabulary and communicative functions learned in the course and appropriate to the novice level. Each of these three writing activities will also have a Rewrite component. Due dates can be found in the Course Calendar. Your instructor will provide more specific details. You are allowed to use a Spanish-English dictionary during the activity.

The rewrite is not optional. If you do not complete it, regardless of your grade on the initial assignment, a zero grade will be assigned.

LiveChat Activities

You will complete 5 speaking activities throughout the semester. These are impromptu conversations with your classmates, and they are due on MySpanishLab. These LiveChats may be completed with a minimum of 2 but no more than 3 students. Your instructor will provide you with more details for each activity as well as the due dates. The purpose of the LiveChats is to assess your ability to communicate orally in Spanish in the interpersonal mode. Keep in mind that although you are completing this assessment in an online setting, certain presentational decorum is expected. Please make sure you are working in a quiet, distraction free environment. You should be fully dressed with your person covered, seated in a chair or standing where your camera may adequately capture your submission. Additionally, please do not use any language that would be deemed inappropriate in a classroom setting.

Final Exam

You will complete two portions of the final exam, in class and in Webcourses. The exam will test your abilities to listen, read, write and speak in Spanish. Your instructor will post the deadline for the final exam. Again, note that there will be an in class as well as an online portion of this exam. The in class portion of the final exam will correspond to UCF's final exam schedule. While your instructor will most certainly share the date of this portion of the final with you, it is also your responsibility to make sure that you plan accordingly to present yourself on said day, as the dates for the in class and online portions may differ. The final exam will be comprehensive and cumulative. No late exams will be accepted.

Extra Credit

No extra credit will be accepted.

Incompletes

A grade of INCOMPLETE will not be given under any circumstances. There are NO EXCEPTIONS.

Accessibility Statement:

It is my goal that this class be an accessible and welcoming experience for all students, including those with disabilities that may impact learning in this class. If anyone believes the design of this course poses barriers to effectively participating and/or demonstrating learning in this course, please meet with me (with or without a Student Accessibility Services (SAS) accommodation letter) to discuss reasonable options or adjustments. During our discussion, I may suggest the possibility/necessity of your contacting SAS (Ferrell Commons 185; 407-823-2372; sas@ucf.edu) to talk about academic accommodations. You are welcome to talk to me at any point in the semester about course design concerns, but it is always best if we can talk at least one week prior to the need for any modifications.

The instructional media and materials for this class are accessible to students with disabilities. Students who are having difficulty accessing them should contact the faculty member.

Academic Honesty

Every student is expected to do his/her own work in its entirety. Presenting another's ideas, arguments, words or images as your own, using unauthorized material, or giving or accepting unauthorized help on assignments or tests - contradict the educational value of these exercises. Students who attempt to obtain unearned academic credentials that do not reflect their skills and knowledge can also undermine the value of the UCF degrees earned by their more honest peers. Please feel free to ask what is acceptable and what is not.

Plagiarism and cheating of any kind on an examination, quiz, or assignment may result in an "F" for that assignment, may (depending on the severity of the case) lead to an "F" for the entire course, and may be subject to appropriate referral to the Office of Student Conduct for further action. See the UCF Golden Rule for further information. Your instructor will assume for this course that you will adhere to the academic creed of the University and will maintain the highest standards of academic integrity. Your instructor will not bend or break rules for one person that will not apply to everyone.

The use of electronic translators or human assistance to complete your work is a violation of UCF's academic honesty policy. If you have any doubts about what is acceptable assistance and what is not, please ask your instructor.

Any work submitted that contains phrases, structures, or tenses not studied in the course or that in any way indicates that electronic or human assistance has been used may result in an "F" for the assignment, an "F" for the course, and referral to UCF's Office of Student Conduct.

You are responsible for familiarizing yourself with these rules of conduct and abiding by their precepts.

Disability Statement

The University of Central Florida is committed to providing reasonable accommodations for all persons with disabilities. This syllabus is available in alternate formats upon request. Third-Party Software and FERPA

During this course you might have the opportunity to use public online services and/or software applications sometimes called third-party software such as a blog or wiki. While some of these could be required assignments, you need not make any personally identifying information on a public site. Do not post or provide any private information about yourself or your classmates. Where appropriate you may use a pseudonym or nickname. Some written assignments posted publicly may require personal reflection/comments, but the assignments will not require you to disclose any personally identity-sensitive information. If you have any concerns about this, please contact your instructor.

Internet Usage

You will be expected to have “daily” access to the internet and email, since I will be emailing and contacting you “regularly” about assignment updates, additions and changes. All students at UCF are required to obtain a Knight's Email account and check it regularly for official university communications. If you do not own a computer, there are computers accessible to you in all UCF's computer labs, and most computer labs have computers connected to the internet. Student Conduct

UCF faculty support the UCF Creed. Integrity - practicing and defending academic and personal honesty - is the first tenet of the UCF Creed. This is in part a reflection of the second tenet, Scholarship: - I will cherish and honor learning as a fundamental purpose of membership in the UCF community. - Course assignments and tests are designed to have educational value; the process of preparing for and completing these exercises will help improve your skills and knowledge. Material presented to satisfy course requirements is therefore expected to be the result of your own original scholarly efforts.

Academic integrity will be appraised according to the student academic behavior standards outlined in The Golden Rule of the University of Central Florida's Student Handbook. See UCF Golden Rule for further details.

Title IX

Title IX's implementing regulation provides that no person shall, on the basis of sex, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any education program or activity receiving federal financial assistance. The University receives federal financial assistance so Title IX applies to UCF's programs – and, by extension, provides protections to UCF students.

Diversity and Inclusion

Religious Observances

Faculty should include in their syllabi procedures for resolving conflicts between the normal class schedule and major religious observances. Students are expected to notify their instructor in advance if they intend to miss class to observe a holy day of their religious faith. Here is a list of the major religious holidays in a number of faiths. For more details about these and other holidays the Office of Diversity Initiatives at 407-823-6479.

Deployed Active Duty Military Students

If you are a deployed active duty military student and feel that you may need a special accommodation due to that unique status, please contact your instructor to discuss your circumstances.

Please visit UCF Cares if you are seeking resources and support, or if you are worried about a friend or classmate.
